Dinner at Picasso's + Mel Ford & West Side Andy at the Capital Brewery

On Saturday, 5/31, myself, along with Pat D. Tim F. and Wanda W, started the evening with dinner at Picasso's restaurant which is located on Williamsburg Way, just off of Verona Road. This fine restaurant offers a fine Italian cuisine. If you like Italian food, this is the place. I had spaghetti and meatballs, while the others had lasagna. All items on the menu were reasonably priced, and you got plenty to eat. Even somebody like Hulk Hogan would walk out of there felling stuffed! We then headed over to the Capital Brewery to dance to one of our favorite bands. Mel Ford, West Side Andy band. Incidentally for those of you who did not attend Tim and Wanda's wedding party/dance in New Glarus last November, this is the band that played there. But getting back to the band's appearance, at the Capital Brewery, the four of us, along with the other unknowns in attendance, really shook our booties. The party ended shortly after 9pm, but it still made for a fun evening.

Dinner & Movie Night – Tom Grupp

Dave J, Pat, Tom, Wanda, Tim and Chris

On the night of 6/7, six members of our club did our monthly ethnic dinner and movie night. The members who participated were myself, Dave J., Pat D., Tim F., and Wanda W. We were joined by a prospective, Chris, whose company was enjoyed by all (and we hope that he will join us again soon!)

This month, we chose Chinese, so we went to the Yes Buffet on Fish Hatchery Rd. On a scale from 1 to 10, this place definitely deserves the latter because of the great variety of delicious oriental dishes they had to offer.

For the movie, we went to the nearby Star Cinema to see Bruce Almighty starring Jim Carrey, Morgan Freeman and Jennifer Aniston. This movie is the story how God, played by Morgan Freeman, decides he needs to take a vacation. He then chooses Bruce, played by Carrey, to fill in for him. Aniston plays as Bruce's wife. As you can imagine, this movie contains a lot of laughs and was fun to see.

Afterwards, we headed over to Quivey's Grove to have "one for the road".

Mad Town Talks Pig Out at The Pig Roast & Barn Dance at Black Pearl's Farm – Tom Grupp

On Saturday, 6/14, certain members of our club got together and did something a little different. They attended a pig roast and dance at The Black Pearls Farm, which is located between Baraboo and North Freedom. Members that attended this shindig were myself, Pat D., Paul M., Lynn V., Dave H., Libby K., & Grant K.

The fun started at about 5:30 p.m. when they started to serve the food. This is the first time that I ever had roast pig. I was NOT DISAPPOINTED!!! They also had other fine delicious dishes to offer.

Then at 8p.m., one of our favorite bands,

Lynn, Libby, Grant, Tom, Dave, Pat, Paul

Midlife Crisis revved up their instruments and got the party rockin'. The event ended at 11p.m., but not before everyone had a good time.

Well, that's it for now as I want to practice my OOOHHS and AAHHS for the upcoming Rhythm & Booms at Warner Park on 6/28. Thank you Pat D., for coming up with these events!!!
